The purpose of laser etching is to enable easier identification of diamonds. You can laser etch anything onto the girdle, but the most common thing is the cert no and the brand name of the diamond (if there is one).

Another means of identification is Gemprint.

If you have a valuable diamond, the more means of identification the better. These will come in handy to detect switching or as recovery info in case of theft or loss. Laser etching is one means and it is useful to have it done. Even better is Gemprint and if you have this it can actually get you more favourable insurance quotes.
